

ABSTRACT

- A control software system for generating and distributing motion media for operating a target motion device. The control software
- 5 system generates the motion media based on a motion program generated at a content server. The control software system distributes the motion media to a client browser associated with the target motion device.